Roommate Finder Activity Diagram

This is the activity diagram for our roommate finder project. It consists of three main sections, the login, the survey, and the match list section. The login section has two main control flows, one for new users and one for pre-existing users. Both paths join to land on the homepage which has two control flows itself. One path takes it to the survey section, and the other takes the user to the match list section. The survey section connects to 3 other sub-surveys that loop back to the survey page until all three are completed. Once all are completed the user is then brought to the match list section where they can view roommate matches and request contact info for them.
